Founded in 2010, Ardella's House is a service and advocacy non-profit organization committed to helping women with criminal justice histories realize new possibilities for themselves and their families. Our programs make it possible for women to obtain work, housing, and health care; to rebuild their families; and to participate fully in civic life.

Most recently she has been a vociferous advocate for the "Dignity Act," a series of bi-partisan legislation provisions in Pennsylvania to bring dignity to incarcerated women; to end shackling of pregnant women; to provide adequate access to feminine hygiene products; to support keeping families together by limiting the distance of a woman's incarceration so that she can be closer to her family; and to recommend diversionary sentencing for women who have been convicted of non-violent crimes.

Stephanie Booker is the CEO and Founder of A Home Is A Right (AHARI), an organization she established in 2011 to provide permanent supportive housing to veterans at risk of homelessness and homeless veterans and their families, helping them achieve self-sufficiency.

Drawing from her own lived experiences with homelessness, addiction, mental health challenges, and incarceration, Stephanie transformed her life and now dedicates herself to empowering others to overcome the stigma associated with these issues. From humble beginnings, AHARI has grown into a million-dollar nonprofit, and Stephanie is continually seeking dedicated professionals to join the Executive Board and Support Team.

Known for her vision to take AHARI to the national level, she has built a reputation for providing unique, high-quality resources to veterans and underserved populations.

OFFICE OF THE SHERIFF

IN THE NEWS - FEBRUARY 18, 2025

Philadelphia, PA —The International Board of Credentialing and Continuing Education Standards (IBCCES) proudly awarded the Certified Autism Center™ (CAC) designation to the Philadelphia Sheriff's Office. To earn this designation, at least 80% of community-facing officers and other personnel completed a position-specific autism training process. The certification includes scenario-based training designed to equip the department with essential skills for effectively understanding, communicating with, and assisting autistic and sensory-sensitive individuals.

The Philadelphia Sheriff's Office is the first and only law enforcement agency in Pennsylvania to receive Autism Training & Certification from IBCCES, Enhancing Services for the Community.

Under the Bilal Administration, the Philadelphia Sheriff's Office has been committed to the needs of the Autism community. In April 2023, we announced the no-cost Autism Decal Program. This program will alert Emergency responders that a person with autism is in the home or vehicle, enabling Sheriff's Office deputies to draw on their autism training. This training informs law enforcement that someone in the house or vehicle may not speak, respond to, or comply with verbal commands and may not be aware of the danger.

The Autism Decals are free to anyone in Philadelphia but only those registered with the Office of the Sheriff. Our office recommends placing them near the front door of a home or in the rear window of a vehicle to ensure that law enforcement officers know an occupant has Autism. This is part of our continued comprehensive training and response program, which is grounded in assisting residents with their needs.

"I'm encouraged by the 320 Philadelphia Sheriff's Office sworn and civilian employees completing their training for this certification. Residents must know that law enforcement is taking measures to learn more about Autism and Neurodiversity. When we first launched the Autism Decal program in 2023, it was only the beginning of assisting residents' inclusivity," says Sheriff Rochelle Bilal.

"This certification is a testament to the Philadelphia Sheriff's Office's dedication to prioritizing safety for every individual, especially for those who are autistic or sensory-sensitive," says Myron Pincomb, IBCCES board chairman. "IBCCES is proud to award them with the Certified Autism Center™ credential, highlighting their ongoing commitment to enhancing accessibility throughout their community."

AUTISM DECAL PROGRAM

The Philadelphia Sheriff's Office is committed to the safety of all City of Philadelphia residents. The more information deputies have when they respond to calls for service, the better they can meet our residents' needs.

The mission of the PSO Autism initiative is to alert Emergency Responders that there is a person with autism in the home or vehicle. The decals enable Philadelphia City & County Sheriff's deputies and other law enforcement agencies to draw on their autism training and understand that there is a person in the home or car that may not speak, respond to or comply with verbal commands, may hide, or wander off, or may have no awareness of danger.

The Sheriff's Office is providing these decals free of charge to anyone in Philadelphia County who wants to place them near the front door of their home or in the rear window of their car so law enforcement officers can be aware there is an occupant with autism.

If you want to register for the program but do not wish to affix the decal to your home, simply complete this form and request zero decals. In the comment section, please identify if the decals are for a car or house, as they have specific sizes for each.
